

clinic with 9 huts

The clinic is located on the border of the residential area and the farmland. Keeping the view towards the natural landscape, we designed a simple single story building with a flat square roof, which coordinates 9 huts with the trapezoid section underneath. We determined the layout and the size of huts according to the functional demands. The slit shape skylights between the huts and the roof introduce the natural light deep into the building. The treatment turned the in-between spaces into the labyrinthine corridors, and the wider space into the waiting room, which is similar to the settlement atmosphere. The color and the strength of light condition vary directly corresponding to the movement of sun and sky. Together with the intimate scale, it would give people the relaxed feeling, we believe.
