

NOWHERE BUT SAJIMA

Nowhere but Sajima is seaside weekly vacation rental, as the first completely new building in the Nowhere resort series.

Built on a seawall with large openings towards the ocean, privacy required the obstruction of direct views from other points along the water. The design is a bundle of tube-like spaces opening toward the sea which ensure privacy within each space, as well as clear views. Due to the triangular plan, the main window is at an angle to the viewer, causing it to disappear. The combination of a new idea of vacationing and a new typology of vacation house will foster a new way of life for this former fishing village.
