The Hoki Museum is a private art museum where approximately 300 works from Realist paintings assembled by Museum Director Masao Hoki are stored and displayed. In addition to galleries full of paintings, this museum houses a restaurant, café, and other facilities to infuse the time spent in the verdant Showa-no-Mori Park situated next-door with cultural color attained through the appreciation of art. As this museum is dedicated to Realist paintings, an ideal space for viewing Realist paintings based on the use of galleries as the spatial schemes constituting the essence of what an art museum represents is being thoroughly developed. At the same time, all programs required of this museum are realized by way of combining only the spatial schemes constituted by our galleries.
