

Universal Design for Architecture and City Environment

TANAKA Naoto

Graduate School of Science and Engineering, SHIMANE University, Professor

This is written as basic and specialized book for the people who start learning about the “universal design for architecture”

This is based on the evaluations and requests of the researches from the various users that were carried out by the author.

This book introduces attempts, concepts and techniques of “universal design for architecture” for living in safe and secure and comfortable environment for everyone.

Many reference drawings are cited not only for the architects and researchers but also for the people who will study from now to use.

Depending on some items, introduced from home and abroad.

It can be expected to contribute to the spiral-up in universal design for architecture in home and abroad by this book,

Constitution is chapter1 ··· "Living Environment"

chapter2 ··· "Concern for the environment by the functional and physical ttribute" chapter3 ··· " Method and process of universal design" chapter4 ··· " Universal design of external space"

chapter5 ··· " Universal design of public buildings"

chapter6 ··· " Universal design of living space"