Fostering of Building Works Engineers and Provision of Architecture Training Programs to Educators and Students Using Hands-on Training Facility

TAKENAKA CORPORATION
Takenaka Technical Business Training Center Project

By using the "Takenaka Technology Training Center, ‘OMOI’", established with the aim of human resource development of the next generation, the team implemented not only the practical training program for in-house engineers, but also made it open to teachers and students involved in architectural education, and contributed to deepen their understanding of building technology and construction industry.
