

Architecture and Urbanism Student Mobility International Program – AUSMIP

AUSMIP EU-Japan Student Mobility Consortium

The AUSMIP is an EU-Japan bilateral student mobility program on architecture and urbanism, based on an academic exchange agreement. Embedded within well-established long-term research collaborations the AUSMIP consortium consists of three Japanese universities and four EU universities. Since 2003, graduate students of master course level have been participating in the program, amounting to 375 EU/Japanese students in total. The bilateral international program has been extended to doctor course students, post-doc and faculty, since 2013, to further deepen the academic and educational collaboration.
