

東松山農産物直売所

FARM STAND IN HIGASHIMATSUYAMA

Plan to rebuild a farm stand operated by the Agricultural Cooperatives.

Local government who supported the construction requested to include food court and green squares.

We proposed to use local timber of the same size. To overcome the weakness of the material, we devised simple rules and shared them with client throughout the process.

It was a process of establishing each of the various requirements from the big things like programming to small things like shelves and signage. Six months after the opening, many more things have come to coexist, intertwined with each other, within the frame.