GUESTHOUSE IN TATEYAMA

Toslove Tateyama is a guesthouse for the health insurance corporation.

The characteristics of this project is appeared on the circular plan of the facility and the mound facing the panoramic ocean view and encircling inside grass garden.

We took importance to activate human five senses as the design concept of this architecture, by taking sunlight and natural ventilation with fragrance of grass field and the sounds of birds and wind, and by placing natural materials as finish of floors with Japanese domestic woods, walls with soil taken in this site, and soil finished ceilings of guest rooms and so on.

The all evacuation soil from the building basement is used for making total landscape, the gardens circular mound connecting the ground with the second floor. And the trees from primeval forest were removed inside the site. Through those efforts, we tried to minimize the environmental load by the project.
