

Good Job! Center KASHIBA, Good Job! Center KASHIBA/STUDIO

GOOD JOB! CENTER KASHIBA, GOOD JOB! CENTER KASHIBA/STUDIO

“Make, Work, and Spread” Space

This is a project of centers for operation and activities for a civic organization. Collaborating with people with disabilities, this center is aimed to create new jobs that transcend the borders between art, design, and business. It is consisted of diverse spaces : a brightly lit space with a high ceiling, a dimly lit, yet cozy and calm space, a lively space opening to the local community, and so forth. It was conceived to become a place for new explorations where each of people, regardless of their abilities or disabilities, and no matter whether they are the locals or those from afar, can find a space that fits their personality to work comfortably. The design reflects the organization’s philosophy on diversity.