ONO-SAKE WAREHOUSE

This is a plan for a liquor storehouse which is to be built between a new residential area and a commercial strip. We focused on the incoherence and duality of the scenery and then recombined them to create an entirely new landscape.

In line with the insular shops of Road Town, we dismantled the open storehouse, made it align with the local environment and commercial activity, and made an entirely complex structure.

The periphery of the structure is an outdoor space used by warehouses and stores. Within the sequence of comings and goings, we are weaving together the coexistence of both work and town.
