This is the first soccer stadium in Japan with a capacity of 40,000 people built with donations. It has a VIP area with 2,000 seats and meets international standards. By pursuing compactness, adopting roof base isolation, and adopting PCa for 80% of the building frame, the energy required for construction and maintenance was minimized, and a realistic and theatrical viewing environment was realized.